Dear

Subj: duty station

Attached is our recommendation that [redacted] take the present opportunity to designate [redacted] as the [redacted] duty station. The assumptions listed in paragraph II should be carefully considered, for if they are invalid the recommendation may be in error.

The legal consideration should not be shrugged off. We might have been able to make a case for ignoring Federal law on grounds of administrative necessity; now even this flimsy excuse is gone. Our situation would make an interesting story for local commentators, who occasionally refer to us (e.g., see [redacted] 515).

Finally, [redacted] is an open, separate, integral operation and there is no reason for our staffers to be treated differently from the mass of U.S. civilians working with other U.S. organizations here. If other units have such reasons, we should actively oppose being lumped with them arbitrarily and unnecessarily.

Yours truly,
